

9 September 2012 Smoky Skies

WFO BIS

Shown above is the visible satellite image from the afternoon of Monday September 10, 2012. At left are the ongoing wildfires as reported to the National Fire Center (NIFC). Westerly winds through the atmosphere are transporting smoke from ongoing wildfires in Idaho and Montana into western North Dakota. Hazy skies and a notable smell of smoke will continue through the evening.